LABURRAK IN BRIEF

akuarium apokaliptikoa

Duela hamabost bat urte, Bangkok-eko Iur azpiko New World supermarketuak ateak itxi behar izan zituen. Inguruko eraikin batzuk bota egin zituzten, eta, orduz geroztik, zonaldea abandonatuta egon da. Beno, gizakiak abandonatuta. Duela gutxi deskubritu da urak hartu zuela gune hura, eta norbaitek koi arrainak libratu zituela han. Horiei eta ur-korronteak ekartzen dituen beste espeziei esker, ekosistema ikusgarri eta jasangarri bat sortu da.

apocalyptic aquarium

15 years ago New World underground supermarket, in Bangkok, was forced to close. A few buildings in the area were demolished and, since then, the whole area's been abandoned. That is, abandoned by humans. Recently it's been found that the area's covered in water and somebody's introduced koi fish there. And, thanks to other species brought by the currents, a spectacular and sustainable ecosystem has arisen there.

expogrow. Irailak 12tik 14ra

Aurreko urteetako arrakastari jarraiki, Expogrow itzuliko da Ficobara. Aurten hirugarren Foru kanabikoa ospatuko da, eta, beste batzuen artean, kartzelatik ia zuzenean Irunera etorriko den Marc Emery aktibista ezaguna izango dugu. Zirku karpa erraldoia jarriko da kanpo aldean, eta makina bat jarduera bilduko ditu (zirkua, kirola, musika...). Kontzertuei dagokionez, Macka B & The Roots Band mitikoak entzuteko eta ikusteko aukera izango da. Eta, besteak beste, Naâman, Lenacay, UGE eta Eskorzo Afrobeat Experience taldeak ere etorriko dira munduko hainbat tokitako bisitariek erakartzen dituen jaialdi honetara.

expogrow 12th to 14th september

Following the success of previous years, Expogrow is returning to Ficoba. This year is going to be the third cannabis forum and there, amongst others, and almost straight from prison, will be the well-known activist Marc Emery. There will be a giant tent outside for a load of activities (a circus, sports, music...) As far as music is concerned, the mythical group Macka B & The Roots Band will be playing. Other groups playing at the festival, which attracts visitors from all over the world, include Naâman, Lenacay, UGE and Eskorzo Afrobeat Experience.

liburuak mihise

Liburutegietan, tarteka, garbiketa egiten dute, eta hainbat liburuz libratu behar izaten dute. Mike Stilkey soberan dauden liburu horiek eskuratzen ditu, eta bere artelanen mihise bihurtzen ditu. Emaitza, ikusgarria...

book canvas

From time to time libraries get cleaned out and many books have to be got rid of. Mike Stilkey has got hold of some of those unwanted books and used them as the canvas for his work. The result? It's amazing...

Violaine Orsoni eta Jeremy Schneiderrek zuzentzen duten diseinu eta ilustrazio estudioa da. Beren lanen artean, grafito eginiko ilustrazio liluragarriak daude. Guri, batez ere, naturaz eta pertsonaia harrigarri betetako animali bizardunen saila gusrtatu zaigu.

Violaine & Jeremy

It's a graphic design and illustration studio based in Paris formed by Violaine Orsoni and Jeremy Schneider. Among their best work are these astounding graphite drawings of quirky animals adorned with beards of wildlife and other unexpected characters.

pathé egoitza berria

Pathé zinemaren historiarekin lotutako izen mitiko horietako bat da. Zinemaren jaiotzatik eguneraingo jasotzen duen zinema artxibo izugarria izateaz gain, ekoizle, banatzale eta zinema-aretoen jabe da Pathé etxea. Sortu berri duten fundaziorako, Renzo Piano arkitektoari hots egin zioten, eta hauxe da emaitza: eraikinen artean txertatutako arkitekturaren adibide ikusgarria.

pathé's new headquarters

Pathé is one of the mythical names connected with the history of the cinema. As well as having an incredible archive of films dating from the birth of cinema to the present day, Pathé is also a producer, distributor and owner of cinemas. They called architect Renzo Piano to build their new headquarters, and these are the results. A worth example of architecture placed in context.

paperezko txoriak

Diana Beltran Herreraren paperezko txoriak erakutsi izan ditugu inoiz The balden. Azken aldian, ordea, jabetu gara teknika garatuz joan dela eta izugarrizko detailea duten paperezko txorien bilduma egiten dabileta. Ezin izan diogu paperezko lumadunak hemen erakusteari uko egin.

paper birds

We have brought Diana Beltran Herrera's paper bird to the balde from time to time. Recently, however, we have realised that her technique is evolving and she is putting together a collection of birds with incredible details. We couldn't help showing you her paper feathery friends here.

Alemaniako Klasse Löbbert arte eskolan, etxetik urrun, topo gin zuten Ail Hwang, Hae-Ryan Jeong eta Chung-Ki Park far from home at Germany's Klasse Löbbert art school. The three students saw some pylons near the school and decided to add a little colour to the boring structures. Using crystal acrylic colours to achieve church window type effects, they're built an electric temple.

getxophoto

Beste behin, iraila argazkiaren hilabetea izango da Getxo-Algora ingurunean. Borroka kontzeptuaren inguruan arituko dira aurtengo argazkilari gonbidatuak Getxophoton. Ohikoa den moduan, argazkiak kalera ateratzeaz gain, tailerrak, hitzaldiak eta beste hainbat ekimen izango dira hilabete osoan zehar. Beldurrik gabe esan dezakegu, aurten behintzat, borroka dela bidea.

getxophoto

Once more, September's going to be the month for photography in the Getxo-Algora area. This year's guests at Getxophoto are going to be basing their work around the concept of struggle. As well as taking their photos out to the street, as they do every year, there will be workshops, conferences and many other activities throughout September. As we say, this year the struggle is the way forward.

thee silver mt zion

Godspeed You! Black Emperor talde mitikoaren pausoet jarraiki, lau urteko isilunearen ostean, lan berri bat kaleratu du musikari kolektibo honek, "Fuck Off Get Free We Pour Light on Everything" izenburu liluragarria. Montrealgo taldearen musika eder, hedonista, punk eta desesperatua zuzenean gozatzeko aukera izango dugu, abuztuaren 26an, Biarritzeko L'Atabalen.

thee silver mt zion

natura minimoen handitasuna
greatness of minimal nature

"Badaude, txori bat ikusi ostean, luma guztiak marratztu nahi dituztenak. Eta gero, bagaude beste batzuk, lumak sekula zenbatzen ez ditugunak".

Charley Harper

"There's some who want to count all the feathers in the wings and then others who never think about counting the feathers, like me".

Charley Harper

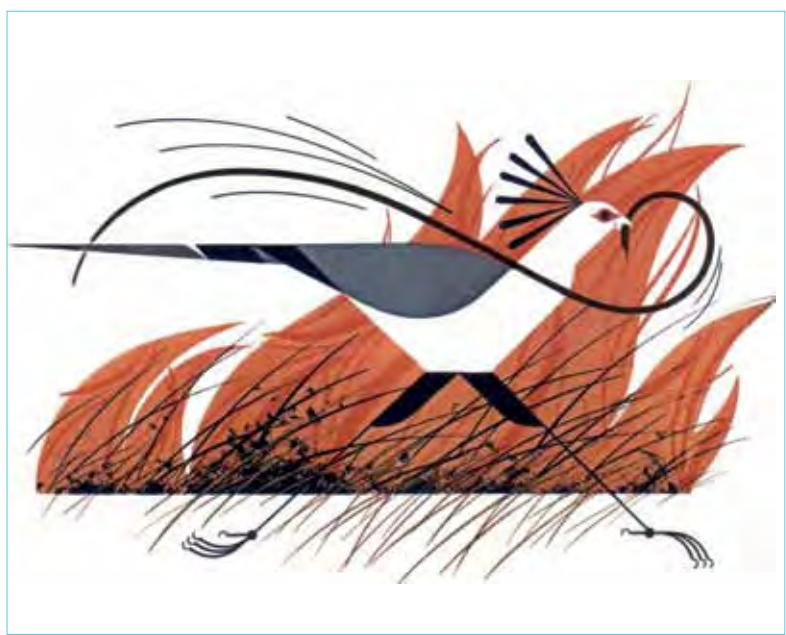

West Virginiano baserri batean jaio eta hazi zen Harper. Cincinnati Art Academyra joan zen ikastera, eta han ezagutu zuen, klaseko lehendabiziko egunean, Edie McKee artista gaztea. Graduatu bezain pronto ezkondu ziren. Harper, ikasle bikaina izateagatik, herrialde osoan zehar bidaiatzeko beka irabazi zuen, eta hura probestu zuen herrialdeko natura gune ezberdinetara eztiz-bidaia egiteko. Orduan hasi zen Harper hain propioa zuen natura-ilustrazio estiloa garatzen. Gezurra badirudi ere, hainbat urtetan, aldizkarietako editoreen ezezko jaso zuen bere natura ilustrazioak "modernoegiak" zirelako. Kubismoak, geometriak eta minimalismoak ez omen zuten zerikusirik naturarekin. Zorionez, Harperrek ez zuen etsi. Jo ta su jarraitu zuen animalien itxura eta izaeraren esentzia, ahalik eta lerro, kolore eta elementu gutxienekin islatzen. Errealismo minimo gisa definitzen zuen berak bere marrazteko estiloa. Egun, ezin dugu ulertu natura-ilustrazioa artista honen ekarpenik gabe. Amaitzeko Gomendio bat. Aukera izanez gero, eskuratu The Golden Book of Biology. Ezinbesteko.

Harper was born and raised on a farm in West Virginia. He studied at the Art Academy of Cincinnati and on his first day in class he met young artist Edie McKee. They married as soon as they graduated. Harper was an outstanding student and he won a grant to travel the country. He made use of the grant to visit many natural parks on honeymoon. That's when he started to develop his very personal style of nature illustrations.

Unbelievable as it may seem, for many years magazine editors rejected his illustrations as being "too modern". Cubism, geometry and minimalism seemingly had nothing to do with nature. Thankfully, Harper did not throw in the towel and he continued to fire away at capturing the appearance and essence of animals, their colours and lines using as few elements as possible. He defined his style as minimal realism and nowadays it's impossible for us to understand nature illustrations without referring to him. A recommendation to finish with: If you can, get The Golden Book of Biology. Essential reading and viewing.

Disko berria grabatzean, kantuek gorputz gehiago izateko, Benny Divine eta Luke Schneider musikarien lagunza izan dute Nashville-koek. Honela, arimaz betetako blues, rock eta country doinuen nahasketak sendoa lortu dute. Out in the country eta Firewater liquor abestietan groove handia transmitzen dute Saturday night blues eta Country hippie blues kantuetan bere soinu nortasun erakusten diguten bitartean.

This Nashville three-piece has enlisted the help of musicians Benny Divine and Luke Schneider with a view to giving their songs a fuller sound on their latest record. And the result is a very solid body of soul-filled blues rock and country. Out in the country and Firewater liquor have a real groove to them while the band showcases its hippie-blues character on the songs Saturday night blues and Country hippie blues.

Gaur egungo abeslari dotoreena da Lee Fields. 1969an argitaratu zuen bere lehen diskoa eta urte askotan diskoetxe batetik bestera aritu zen. Azken urteotan Truth & Soul diskoetxeari esker bere ibilbidea zuzentza lortu du. The Expressions talde gazteak badu pisua horretan, honi esker inoiz grabatu dituen ahotsik koloretsuenak lortu baititu. Just can't wait eta Standing by your side dira horren erakusle.

Lee Fields is the most elegant singer around at the moment. He released his first record in 1969 and since then he has skipped from one record company to another. Signing to Truth & Soul records a few years ago seems to have put him back on the right track. The young band The Expressions are also responsible for this change, and he has just recorded his best ever vocals on his latest release. Take a listen to Just can't win eta Standing by your side.

Madrileko punk eszenak garai berria bizi du eta Biznaga da mugimendu horren susperraldiaren azken emaitza. Hainbat EP eta single argitaratu ostean estudioko lan luzea aurkeztu dute. Paralisis Permanente eta Eskorbuto taldeen eragina nabarmena da bertan. Abiadura handiko abesti zikinetan, Divino fracaso, letra zuzenak, Fiebre eta Máquinas blandas, jaurtitzen dituzte.

The punk scene in Madrid has been revitalised and Biznaga are the latest band to make a name for themselves there. Having released quite a few singles and EPs, they have finally come up with a full length album. The influence of the groups Paralisis Permanente and Eskorbuto are clear for all to hear. Their fast dirty songs are lyrically very straight to the point. Check out Divino fracaso, Fiebre and Máquinas blandas.

Crammed Discs diskoetxeak Congotronics saila argitaratzeari ekin zionean izan genuen Kasai Allstars-en berri. Beste hainbat taldeetako partaideek osatutako proiekta da. Horri esker emaitza sonoro zabala eskaintzen du. Erritmo errepiakorren gainean eskuz sortutako kalkulagailu itxurako instrumentu elektrikoak jotzen dituzte entzulea bidai psikodelikoan murgiltzeko.

We first heard of Kasai Allstars when Crammed Discs started their Congotronics series. The Allstars are made up of a bunch of members of different bands and this provides for a very broad sonic landscape. Looping hypnotic rhythms form the backbone of songs that feature hand-made electronic instruments that look like calculators. Pure psychedelia.

Lehen diskoaren dinamikatik aldentzen diren bi EP argitaratu ditu Belakok. Norabide berria Crime abesti ilunean erakutsi ziguten. Monster eta Eat me kantu intentsu eta gordinen alboan Mum magikoa osatu dute. Denbora laburrean ideiak mugatu beharrean Mungiako taldeak bere musika maisuki eraldatzen dihardu eta hori eskertzeko modukoa da.

Belako have moved on from the dynamics of their first album on these two newly-released EPs. They gave us a first glimpse of this new direction on their single Crime. They have added the raw intense Monster and Eat me and completed it with the magical Mum. This Mungia band certainly don't sit on their laurels and are constantly changing their musical expression. Something to be grateful for.

Berako taldeak hirugarren estudioko diskoa argitaratu du. Denbora igaro da haien bigarren diskotik nahiz eta horrek ez dien energiarik xurgatu. Gure eszenako talde indartsuetakoa da post hardcorearen eskuistik lantzen dituzten erritmo hauskor, aldakor eta indartsuei esker. Ezinaren garraiolaria da diskoan gehien errepikatzen dugun kantua.

The band from Bera are back with their third studio album. It's been a while since their second but they certainly haven't lost anything in the energy department. One of the most powerful bands around this neck of the woods as they ply their brittle, changeable and pumped up post hardcore trade. Ezinaren garraiolaria is the track that seems to find itself on play over and over again in the office here.

1976tik, Wirek, jarraitzaileen gozamena, hedabideen nahastea eta kritikarien porrota sortu ditu. Ziurrenik ez da existitzen, musika arloan hainbeste garatu den eta garapen hori hain luzaroan egin duen beste talderik. Eta oraindik lehenengo diskaren abestiak (Pink Flag, 1977, Bandera arrosa) eta azkenarenak (Change Becomes Us, 2013, Aldaketak ondo egiten digu) jotzen dituzte beren kontzertu zoragarriean.

Wire have been delighting their fans, bemusing the press and confounding their critics since 1976. Maybe no other group has ever evolved as much musically, nor continued to evolve for so long. At the same time, they can still play songs from both their first album (Pink Flag, 1977) and from their latest, 13th album (Change Becomes Us, 2013) in their extraordinary live shows.

I spoke with Graham Lewis and Colin Newman a week before Donostia Jazzaldia.

E

AB: Does Wire aim to produce any particular effect on its listeners? Lou Reed once said that he hoped he was at least good for a laugh: what is Wire good for on a poor day and on a great one?

GL: On a poor day with grey skies, I hope we are able to provide a yellow filter and provide a contrasting perspective...On a great one.... I feel mysterious today, everything is humming loudly!

CN: A lot of our effort goes into not being a nostalgia item: we take pride in being a "contemporary" artistic venture.

AB: Where does your inspiration come from? Where does that "piece of string" come from?

GL: Inspiration can come from the most casual or slight encounters... curiosity and an open mind often provide a welcome...

CN: Inspiration? Who knows what that is? I find it best not to think about it too much!

AB: Is the starting point for your songs something physical or is there a more conceptual basis for your compositions, for example wanting to combine certain elements in a piece when you begin writing it?

CN: I just never think like that. For me composition is kind of a zen "no brain" activity. Don't think before, don't think too much after. I write very quick but I don't write at all if I don't need to! I have lyrics (normally Graham's) in front of me and just go for it. Whatever feels right! A lot of that kind of stuff is unspoken. There is a wide range of taste in the band but somehow we do coalesce around some kind of aesthetic even if it is pretty broad!

AB: Being described, back in the day, as the punk Pink Floyd and then calling your first long-player "Pink Flag" could be seen as two fingers to the type of prejudice and snobbery which is often rife in the British music scene.

GL: Our promoting of art in the British music press did not make us popular with them... their snobbery was born from ignorance and stupid arrogance... this came as hardly any surprise we were prepared for it... It was what art school had prepared me for.

CN: Wire have never been easy to put in a box. In the past we were often accused if being too clever for our own good! However during the last few years our reception in Britain has been pretty positive.

AB: You're playing at Donostia Jazz Festival - although it's unlikely anyone thinks you play jazz - getting of for forty years after Wire got together for the first time. Do you still have fun playing live? Or is it writing and recording your main interest?

GL: At the beginning of Wire, a few people described us as being 'jazzers'! I took it as a compliment, it referred to our attitude and what they saw as our abstract approach to writing and arranging. I love the physicality and release of playing live... most therapeutic!

CN: Both live & recording have their fun & serious aspects. I think we're a pretty strong live band and playing live is very important for us.

AB: When you're touring, does not knowing a local language, not being part of the local culture, ever act as a stimulus in any way?

GL: Mishearing or only being able to interpret body language can be fun... People watching's a favourite sport!

CN: I don't think anyone expects us to sing in the local language and I don't think those that only want culture in their own language would be interested in us (the kind of people who have a narrow definition of culture are unlikely to be interested in Wire). In Tokyo I always have a strong sense that the audience "gets" what we do but most don't speak a word of English!

AB: What can we expect (within its unpredictability) from Wire in the future?

CN: The next Wire "thing" will be an August re-release of the Document & Eyewitness album. In December we have an edition of our DRILL: FESTIVAL in a certain British City. I can't tell you more about it right now. In April 2015 there will be a new Wire album, we have done the main recording already but I'll need a few months to work the production.

AB: "Avoiding C, D and E, avoiding E 'cos that's where you get the blues." Does Wire avoid certain things in its music and/or lyrics, forbid itself certain things?

GL: Yes, there are huge and growing numbers of things which will not appear in Wire work... The hunt for new metaphor never stops and the recycling of cliche is an honest and necessary business in POP! Lowdown was the first text I wrote for Wire and proved to be something of a manifesto, unintentionally... The line is about the shortest route A to B, in our case starting to make Wire music was by completely disregarding rock'n'roll/ blues structures and attitudes.

Wire's concert at Jazzaldia was intense, loud, varied, unexpected (very few of their best-known songs) and, whether that's or not jazz, I want more!

AB: Wirek entzuleengan erreakzio zehatz bat sorrarazi nahi al du? Behin Lou Reedek esan zuen barre eragitea behintzat espero zuela. Wirek zertarako balio du egun txar batean, eta egun handi batean?

GL: Egun txar batean, zero griseko batean, espero dut filtro hori bat jarri eta ikuspuntu ezberdin bat eman dezakegula. Egun on batean... I feel mysterious today, everything is humming loudly! ('Gaur misteriotsu sentitzen naiz, burrunba handia airean!')

CN: Ahalegin handia egiten dugu nostalgia talde bat ez izateko; gaur egungo egitasmo artistikoa izateak, garaikide izateak harro sentiarazten gaitu.

AB: Ideiak nondik etortzen zaizkizue? "Soka hori" nondik datorkizue?

GL: Inspirazioa ausazko edota txikiak diren topaketetatik eter daiteke... Jakin minak eta jarrera irekia izateak ere harrera bide ezin hobea dira inspirazioarentzat.

CN: Inspirazioa? Nork daki zer den hori. Niretzat, hobe da horren gainean ezer gutxi hausnartzea!

AB: Zuen abestien abiapuntua fisikoa den zerbait da ala konposizioek hori baino oinarri kontzeptualagoa dute, esaterako, osagai batzuk erabili nahi izatea abestia idatzit aurretik?

CN: Nik ez dut inoiz horrela pentsatzen. Niretzat, konposatza halako "garunik gabeko" ekintza zen bat da. Egin baino lehen ez pentsatu, egin ondoren ere ezer gutxi. Oso azkar konposatzen dut baina, eta, beharrik izan ezean, ez dut ezer idazten! Letrak izaten ditut (normalean, Grahamenak izaten dira) eta aurrera! Ez dugu gauza horien gainean hitz egiten. Gustu anitzak ditugu taldean, baina estetika batekin bat gatoz, nahiz eta hori zabal samarra izan!

AB: Hasieran, Wire, Pink Floyd punkia zela esaten zen, eta zuen lehenengo diskogia Pink Flag izenburua jarri zenioten. Izen horrekin musika mundu britainiarrean dauden aurreiritzia eta handikeria pikutara bidali nahi zenituzten?

GL: Guk artea bultzatu nahi genuen musika bidez eta hedabide britainiarretan hori ez ziguten barkatu. Hainetan pedantekeria ezjakintasunean eta harrokeria tuntunean oinarrizten zen; baina guretzat hori ez zen ezustekoa izan, arte eskolak erantzun horri aurre egiteko prestatu ninduen aspaldi.

CN: Ez da inoiz erraza izan Wire kutxa batean sartzea. Hasieran argiegiak ginela ere esan zuten! Bainazken urteotan harrera on samarra izan dugu Britainian.

AB: Biretan, bisitatzen dituzuen herrialdeen hizkuntzak ez jakitea eta hango kulturak ez ezagutzea akuilu izaten da inoiz?

GL: Gauza gaizki entzutea edo gorputz hizkuntza irakurtzeko aukerarik baino ez izatea dibertigarria izan daiteke... Jendearren joan-etorriak ikustea asko gustatzen zait!

CN: Ez dut uste inork espero duenik guk hango hizkuntzan abesterik, eta ez dut uste bere hizkuntzan bakarrik kultura nahi duen inork guregan interesa duenik (ziurrenik, kultura definizio estua dutenek ez dute gugan inongo interesek). Tokion adibidez, entzuleek egiten duguna "ulertzen" dutela iruditzen zait beti baina gehienek ez dute hitz bakarra ere egiten ingelesez!

AB: Wirerek ez dago jakiterik, baina zer espero dezakegu?

CN: Hurrengo Wire-ren "ekintza" Document & Eyewitness (Dokumentua eta lekuo zuzena) diskoaren birplazaratzea izango da, abuztuan. Eta abenduan gure DRILL: FESTIVAL izango dugu Britainiako hiri batean. Orain bertan ezin dizit gehiago esan. 2015ko apirilean Wiren disko berria aterako da, grabaketa nagusia egin dugu baina ekoizpenerako hilabete batzuk beharko ditut.

AB: "Do, re eta mi saihestuz, bluesak hor jotzen dira eta." Wirek gauza batzuk saihesten ditu bere musikan edota letretan, gauza batzuk bere buruari debekatzen al ditzio?

GL: Bai, geroz eta gauza gehiago ez dira Wireren lanetan agertzen. Metafora berrien ehiza bukaezina da eta topikoak birziklatzea kontu zintzoa eta beharrezko da pop musikan! "Lowdown" Warentzat lehenengo idatzi nuen testua izan zen eta, nahi gabe, manifestu edo bihurtu zen. Lerro hori A-tik B-ra joateko ibilbiderik laburrenaren gainekoa da: gure kasuan, hasi ginen Wiren musika egiten rock'n'roll/bluesen egiturak eta jarrerak hartu gabe, erabat.

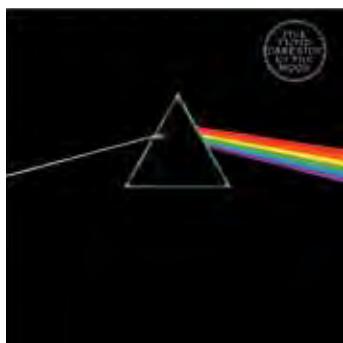

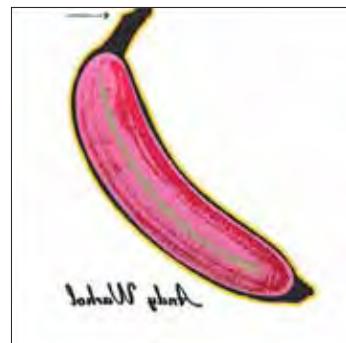

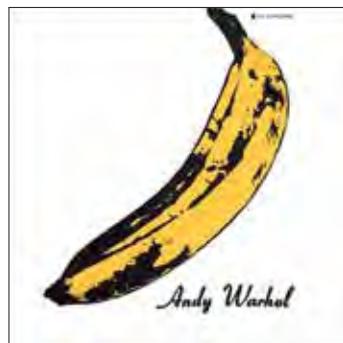

Jazzaldiako Wiren kontzertua bizia, zaratatsua, anitza eta aurrez asma ezina izan zen (oso abesti ezagun gutxi jo zituen) eta, horrelako modukoak, jazza izan ala ez, gehiago nahi ditugu!

diskoen aurpegi ezkutua

Disko baten azala aurrean jarri eta bat batean ispilu efektua nolakoa litzatekeen pentsatu al duzu inoiz? Diskoaren ikuspegia aldatu eta haren atzean edo alboan jarrita zer ikusiko litzatekeen asmatzen saiatu al zara? Zu ez jakina, baina Harvezt artistak hori egin du hain zuzen ere makina bat diskorekin. Eta hauxe da emaitza:

discs' hidden side

Have you ever looked at a disc and suddenly tried to think what the mirror effect would be like? Have you tried to guess what you would see behind it or beside it if you changed the disc's side? You haven't, of course, but the artist Harvezt has done just that with a load of discs. And this is the result:

krisalida cocoon

Ez. Hau ez da Christo artistaren etxe berria. Peter Steinhauer argazkilariaren urteetako lana da. Steinhauerrek urteak daramatza Hong Kong-eko eraikinei erreparatzen. Entomologoak tximeleta aztertzen duen moduan aztertzen ditu argazkilariak hiriko eraikinak. Eraikinari ordua iristen zaionean, bertatik hiriko kale estuetara ezer erori ez dadin, inguratzen duen banbu aldamio malgu bezain sendoa telaz babesten dituzte, krisalida bat balitz bezala. Eraikina ez da krisalidatik libratuko transformazioa guztiz amaitzen den arte.

No. This is not the artist Christo's new house. It is years' work by photographer Peter Steinhauer. Steinhauer has spent a long time observing the architecture of Hong Kong. This photographer studies different buildings in the city in the way an entomologist studies a butterfly. When it comes to a new building, the sturdy flexible bamboo scaffolding used to help build these giant constructs is covered in a nylon gauze to prevent anything from falling to the city streets below. It's as if they were a giant cocoon. The building will not emerge from its cocoon until it has been totally transformed.

artea komunean art in a toilet

Asko idatzi da tabernetako komunetan. Asko marraztu. Asko aldarrikatu. Asko drogatu. Larrutan ere egin da, ziur, baina gutxiago. Oraindik geratzen dira leizeetan bizi ziren arbasoen modura, txiskeroa eskuetan, keaz, komuneko sabaiak Belmezko agerpenak diruditenean irudiak marrazten dituzten trogloditak. Uste genuen, honez gero, tabernetako komunetan gertatutako ezerk ez gintuela harrituko. Duela gutxi, Euskal Herriko taberna eta gaztetxe ezberdinak komunetan, pintura koloretsuz margotutako arte lan impresionistak azaltzen hasi ziren arte. Leina Kunst artistaren lanak dira. Komunera eginiko bisitaldi batek irauten duen denboran egiten ditu (apatu dugu zereginaren arabera komunera sartu-irtenak iraupen ezberdina izan dezaketa) eta guri behintzat, taberna zuloetako komunak bisitatzen jarraitzeko aitzakia eman digu.

A lot has been written in toilets in bars. A lot drawn. A lot of revindications have taken their place on these walls. A lot of drugs taken too. Lots of sex, as well. Maybe not as much as the other stuff though. And in the fashion of our cave-dwelling ancestors, there are still those troglodytes that, lighter in hand, conjure up smoky Belmez-like faces on these hallowed walls. By this stage we thought that there was nothing on a toilet wall that could shock us or capture our attention in any way. Well, that was until recently, when colourful impressionist paintings began appearing on the toilet walls of bars and gaztetxes (communal youth squats) in the Basque Country. They are work of artist Leina Kunst. The artist does them in the time it takes to do whatever she needs to do there (depending on what you need to do, this time may vary), and she has given us at least, a new reason to go to the loo in bars.

big bang data

Gutariko pertsona bakoitzak datu mordoa sortzen du egunero bere telefono mugikor, ordenagailu, sare sozial, argazki eta bideo digital, transakzio, erosketa, gps seinale, eta abarrekin. Kontua da, datu guztia hauetan jaso eta biltzea geroz eta errazagoa dela. Eta datu hauen irakurketa egin ostean gure portadera, kontsumo ohiturak, inbertsioak, ideologia, lagunartea eta abarrak ezagutu eta eraldatzea ia edonoren esku dago.

All of us create a load of data every day by using our mobile phones, computers, social networks, digital cameras and videos, in our bank transactions, purchases, the way we use our gps and so on. The thing is, it's easier and easier to get hold of that data and put it all together. And, after interpreting that data, it's easier and easier to find out about and transform our behaviour, consumer habits, investments, ideology, friendships...

XX. mendea petroleoaren mendea izan bazen, XXI. mendeko urre beltza datuak dira. Datuen eztanda garaian bizi gara. Gure bizitza, geroz eta gehiago, kanpotik edo gu geuk sortutako datuen bitartez definitu, moldatu eta bideratu daiteke. Datu anabasa hau gizarte kontrolerako tresna eta aberastasun iturri izan daiteke... bestetik ezagutza prebentzio, gardentasun eta efikazia tresna ere izan liteke... Nork, eta nola bideratzen da balantza alde batetara edo bestera?

Azken bost urteotan gai honen inguruan hausnarketa eta kontzientzia korrontea sortu da. Administrazioan eta empresa munduaz gain, alor akademikoan, zientifikoan, kultura eta gizarte alorretan ere interes berezia sortu du garatzen ari garen eta gizartean eragin eta aldaketa nabarmenak sortzen ari den datuetan oinarrituko mundu berria. Datuetan oinarritzen den errealtitate berri honetan desafio ezberdinak topatzen ditugu:

Hodeiaren pisua

Gure datu behar asegaitzak bere inguruan industria astun bat sortu du. Planeta osoa inguratzen duten kable, uhin eta abarrak elikatzeko behar den energia ez da txantxetan hartzeko modukoa.

Informazio eztanda

Datuak sortu, transmititu eta metatzeko erritmoa garapen etengabea dago. Azken 50 urteotan garapen horrek abiadura izugarria hartu du. Segundo oro sortzen dugun datu kopurua hain handia da ezinezkoa bihurtu daitekeela batetik metaketa eta bestetik horren kudeaketa logiko eta efektiboa.

Datuen azterketa

Gobernuek, enpresek, erakunde zientifikoek eta abarrek sortzen dituzten datu masak kudeatzeko, jasotzeko edo eta irakurtzeko modu berriak behar dira. Datu masiboen iraultzak, datu horiek aztertzeko metodologia eta teknika berriak ekarri dituzte. Eta horrekin batera lanbide berriak: datu azterzaile eta hauen informazioaren itzultzale diren data scientist deritzotenak.

Munduaren datifikazioa

Informazio kopuru handiak metatzeko erraztasunari, informazio hori sortzeko erraztasuna gehitu behar zaio. Nola? Munduan ugaltzen ari diren sentsoreei esker: GPS-ak, merkantzia eta pertsona garraio monitorizazioak, airearen kalitatea neurten duten tresnak, bideoigilantzia kamarak, trafiko neurgailuak, muntai kateen kontrol digitalak,...

Mundua datuen bidez azaltzen

Estatistika modernoaren sorrerarekin, mundua ulertzeko modu berria datuetan oinarritzen dena da. Eta azalpen eta ikerketa objektibo izatetik, egun, subjektibotasuna ere datuekin aztertzeko joera hartu du. Giza portaera, sentimenduak, pentsamenduak datu bihurtu eta datuen bidez azaltzen dira. Duela gutxira arte datu horien lorpena metodo zientifiko, industrial edo administratiboen laguntzarekin lortzen ziren. Egun, web 2.0 ari esker, datu horiek gu geuk proporcionatzen ditugu sarea erabiltzen dugun bakoitzean. Bertan, gure nahiak, beldurrak, itxaropenak edo eta desioen berri ematen dugu eta sentiment analysis deritan teknikaren bitartez, gure lehentasun kolektibo, komertzial politiko edo sexualak datu bihurtu daitezke. Gitariko bakoitzak, sare sozialetan ematen duen datu andanak esker produktu bihurtu gara. Gure datuekin komertzioa egiten dutenak Data Broker izenez dira ezagunak eta internet sustengatzen duen modelo ekonomikoan oinarrizkoak dira.

Datazentrismoa

Erabakiak hartzeko orduan datuetan soilik oinarritzeak aukera asko irekitzen ditu baina arriskuak ere baditu. Datazentrismoaren arrisku nagusia, datuetan gauza guztien erantzuna dagoela sinistea da. Gizartea beharrezkoak ditu subjektibotasunean oinarritutako mekanismoak. Anbiguitate dosiak mantentzea beharrezko da erantzun guziak Data Center batean metatutako datuen eskuetan utzi beharrean.

Jakin badakigulako datuek ezin dute guztia kontatu. Eta horregatik hain zuzen ere, hiritarrok jabetu behar dugu ezin dugula datuen kudeaketa eta erabilpena besteon eskuetan utzi. Ez da komeni datuak esplotatzen dituztenen aurrean kontsumitzale pasibo soilak izatea baizik eta datu hauengana iristeko eskubideak ezagutu eta aldarrikatzea garrantzitsua da. Hamaika administrazio, erakunde, talde eta aktibistek datu irekiengin inguruan politikak, gardentasuna eta parte hartzeari hiritarra sustatu dituzte. Horrezaz gain, sareko konpainia handi eta "sare ofizialen" tentakuluetatik at, plataforma eta parte hartzeari modu berriak garatu dira. Civio fundazioa adibide (civio.es/en)

Baten batek galdetuko zion bere buruari... Nolatan the baldekoak gai honen inguruan? Ba Bartzelonako CCCB-n erakusgai dagoen Big Bang Data erakusketa izan garelako. Eta hain zuzen ere, datuen mundu honekin zerikusia duten artelan eta proposamen interesgarri ezberdinek hausnarketa eta ikerketa txikia egitera eraman gaituztelako. Arteak ere horretarako balio duelako...

If the 20th Century was the century of petrol, the 21st Century's black gold is Data. We live in a time of data explosion. Our lives are more and more guided and influenced by data we receive from others or from data we create ourselves. That data jungle can be used to control society and also be a source of wealth... It can also be an efficient tool for working with knowledge, prevention and transparency. Who tips the balance one way or the other, and how?

Awareness of this and reflection about it has grown in the last five years. As well as in the world of public authorities and business, the new world which we are creating, a world which is based on data which is making considerable changes to society, is of special interest in the academic world, in scientific, cultural and sociological spheres. There are many different types of challenge in this new, data-based new reality:

The weight of the Cloud

Our insatiable need for data has created an important industry around it. The cables, frequencies and such like which go all around the world are not to be taken lightly from the energetic point of view.

Information explosion

In order to obtain data, there is ceaseless development of means of transmitting and collecting it. This development has become incredibly fast over the last fifty years. The quantity of data being created at every second is so large that data gathering and logical and effective management has become indispensable.

Examining data

In order to manage the mass of data created by governments, companies and scientific organisations, new forms of data gathering and interpretation are needed. The transmission of mass data has brought new methods and techniques for examining data. And, at the same time, new types of jobs: so-called data scientists, who examine data and translate information.

Converting the world into data

As well as the ease of gathering large amounts of information, it has also become easy to create information. How? Thanks to the sensors which are springing up all over the world: GPSes, the monitoring of personal and goods traffic, devices for measuring air quality, closed circuit cameras, traffic cameras, digital production chain control...

Explaining the world using data

Along with the creation of modern statistics, a new way of understanding the world, based on data, has arisen. From having been explained and examined objectively, there is now a tendency to examine data subjectively. Social behaviour, feelings and thoughts are explained using data. Until recently, that data was obtained using scientific, industrial and administrative methods. Nowadays, thanks to Web 2.0, we create that data ourselves whenever we use the web. We give out information about our desires, fears, hopes and wishes and, by using sentiment analysis, our collective, commercial, political and sexual priorities become data. By feeding considerable information to the social networks, we become products ourselves. The people who trade in our data are known as Data Brokers, and they are very important in the economic model which supports the Internet.

Datacentricity

When taking decisions, there are many opportunities to use only data to do so, but that involves risks as well. The main risk of datacentricity is believing that the answers to everything can be found in data. Society needs mechanisms which are based on subjectivity. We must hold onto a degree of ambiguity to avoid all the answers being kept in storage in a data centre.

We are aware that data cannot explain absolutely everything. And that's why we, the citizens, have to realise that we cannot let other people manage and use our data. It isn't a good idea for us to be mere passive consumers when there are people out there exploiting our data; it's important for us to know about and stand up for our rights to access that data. Numerous public authorities, organizations, groups and activists have defended open data policies, transparency and citizen participation. In addition, many platforms and new ways of taking part have been developed out of 'official web' and large web companies' control. Civio foundation is one such (civio.es/en)

Some people may ask why the balde is talking about this. It's because we went to the Big Bang Data exhibition at CCCB in Barcelona. And, right there, various works of art interesting points of view stimulated us to think about the data world. Art's good for that too...

stakhanoven oinordekoak

Heroes of Labour proiektua, gizarte post-industrialean "lana" kontzeptuak jasan duen aldaketa erradikalaz hausnartzeko saiakera bat da.

Garai bateko blokeen botere tirabirak, sistema kapitalistaren nolabaiteko justizia soziala mantentzen lagundu zuen, alde bakoitzak bere sistemaren balio moralen nagusitasunaren alde borrokatzentzela... Sobietar Batasunaren sistema sozialistaren gainbeherarekin, oreka hori hautsi zen. Kapitalismo gordinak ez zuen inongo oztoporik topatu bere zabalkundean. Industria osoak eraman dira lan indarra merkea eta moldagarria den herrialdeetara. Proletariat, politika ekonomiko marxistak definituko lukeen moduan, desagertzen ari da klase berri baten mesederako: Precariatzeneako. Lanak berak bere balioa galdu du kapitalismoaren globalizazioaren aroan. Proiektu honetan lanean, iraganera jo dut, historiarengarai ia mitologiko batetara non lanaren balioa bere gailurrean zegoen.

1935. urteko abuztuaren 31an Alexej Stakhanov, Central-Irmino ikatz meatzeko mailu pneumatiko operatzaileak, errekor berri bat ezarri zuen: 102 tona ikatz atera zuen 5 ordu eta 45 minututan (14 aldiz bere eguneroko kuota). Lana eta laborariak aldarrikatzeko estatuak bultzatutako kanpaina bat esker, Stakhanov Sobietar heroi nagusi bihurtu zuten. Handik gutxira, bere erretreatua Time aldizkariaren azalean agertu zen. Bere lanagatik langile batek mundu mailako ospea lortzen zuen lehendabiziko aldia zen. "Estajanobismo" terminoak, orduz gerotzik, lan eskerga muturrekoak sortzen duen "heroitasuna" definitzeko erabiltzen da.

Stakhanov-en lorpenaren 74. urteurrenean, egungo lan indarraren arketipo eta justizia sozialaren makalaldiaren ikur diren meatzari garaikideen inguruko argazki proiektua hasi nuen. Ukrainiako ekialdean, Stakhanov izeneko Europako meatzerik handienean, beren txanda aldaketa uneetan, 100 meatzarien erretretuak egin nituen, Kapitalismo globalaren presioa eta lan merkatuaren aldaketak direla eta, Ukrainiako meatzak isten ari dira eta datozen bost urteetan 100.000 meatzarik beren lana galduko dute. Nire lanak, meatzari-mito eta langile-heroi arketipotik zer geratzen den aztertu nahi du.

Orain, langile hauek guda eremuan daude, beren etorkizuna edo bizitzaz erabakitzeko gaitasunik gabe. Ukrainiako armadak, Donetsk eta Lugansk inbaditu eta hiriak eta herriak suntsitu dituzte Donbassko eskualdean milaka hildako eta zauritu eraginaz. Errusiarren kontrako nazionalismo sentimenduak eta Ukrainiako Maidan osteko muturreko eskuinaren igoera dela eta, Donetsk eta Lugansk eskualdeetan federalismoaren edo eta independentziaren alde bozkatu zuen jendeak. Ukrainiak ez zituen erreferendumaren emaitzak onartu eta segidan Donetsk eta Lugansk errepublikek beren kabuz independentzia deklaratu zuten. Ukrainiak tropak bidali zituen eskualde matxinoak desarmatzera eta zigortzera eta bide batez, bertako biztanleak Ukrainiako eskualde ezberdinatarra sakabanatuta eta hego ekialdeko eskualdean mendebaldeko biztanle nazionalistekin betetzen hasi ziren.

sons of stakhanov

The Heroes of Labour project is an attempt to question radical changes in the very notion of Labour in contemporary, post-industrial society.

The global balance of power, which once helped support a certain level of social justice in capitalist society as each side battled for the moral high ground, shifted with the end of Soviet Socialist System. Brute capitalism was then unleashed on an unsuspecting global stage. Whole industries are being moved to parts of the world where the workforce is cheap and plentiful, countries where workers can be hired and fired at will. The proletariat, as defined by a Marxist political economics, is gradually disappearing and being replaced by a new class - the precariat (a precarious, temporary and ever changeable workforce). Labour itself is losing its value in this era of capitalist globalisation. Whilst working on the project I appealed to the past, to an almost mythological history when the value of labour was at its zenith.

On 31 August 1935 Alexej Stakhanov, a jackhammer operator at Central-Irmino coal mine, mined a record 102 tonnes of coal in 5 hours and 45 minutes (14 times his daily quota). The launch of an unprecedented state-run campaign for popularising extraordinary labour achievements made Stakhanov a Soviet hero par excellence. Soon after, his portrait appeared on the cover of Time Magazine. For the first time ever a worker was elevated to worldwide fame for his performance at work. Since then the term "Stakhanovism" has defined ecstatic labour and over-accomplishment at work as a form of heroism.

On the 74th anniversary of Stakhanov's achievement, I began a photographic research project on the identity of modern miners as an archetype of the working class, affected by the changing value of material labour and decline of social justice. I took 100 portraits of miners during shift changes at the biggest mine in Europe, located in Eastern Ukraine, which bears the name of Stakhanov. Due to the neoliberal pressure of global capitalism and the radical changes in the nature of the labour market, Ukrainian mines are closing apace, more than 100.000 miners stand to lose their jobs within the next five years. My work was an attempt to examine what is left of the miner-myth in the image of the worker-heroes of today.

As of now these same people are in the war zone, deprived of the right to choose there future or even to live. Ukrainian army invaded Donetsk and Lugansk region bombing and shelling extensively cities and villages with thousands of casualties among Donbass citizens. Faced by anti-russian nationalism and rise of the extreme right to unprecedeted power and influence in post-maidan Ukraine, Donetsk and Lugansk regions voted for federalisation if not for independence in May. Ukraine did not acknowledge results of the referendum and soon after Donetsk and Lugansk republics declared independence. Ukraine sent troops to punish and disarm the rebel regions, planning to disperse local population to different regions of Ukraine and inhabit South East with nationalists from the west of Ukraine.

The work by Gleb Kosorukov will be exposed, among others in the GETXOPHOTO festival.

taska kultur klub su beltza!

Kultura gastronomikoa kontzeptua entzuten dugun bakoitzean, pauso bat atzera egiten dugu. Askotan, esnobismoaz, pedantekieriaz eta alkimia merkeak eginaz, gastronomiak goi mailako kultura elitistarekin bat egitea duelako xede. Horregatik maite ditugu A Fuego Negroko lagunek antolatzeko dituzten kultur jarduerak, kalekoa eta herrikoia delako beren kultura gastronomikoa.

Nola aldatu da A Fuego Negron pertzepzioa lokala zabaldu zenutenetik? Zer joan da aldatzen?

Printzipioz gastronomikoki irtenbide profesional gisa zabaldu genuen, kalera eraman nahi baikuenen jatetxe askotan publikoarekin konexiorik izaten ez duen sukaldaritzarik hori, nornahik dasta zezan. Jakina, gure personalitateaz zipritzindurik dago taberna: musika, komikia, liburuak... Urteen poderioz, sukaldaritzaritza garrantzi handia hartzen joan da, eta, azkenean, hiru liburu argitaratu, makina bat kolaborazio, bidaia asko, kamisetak egin, festa eta kontzertuak antolatzea eta abar ahalbidetu digu honek. Orain arte gastronomia batere ohikoa ez zen esparruetan ere sartu nahi izan dugu.

Gastronomiaren mundua... anitza izanda ere... diskurtso nahikoak klonikoa du... erraz iragar daitekeena... Zuek, ordea, ikuspuntu urbano eta herrikoagoa duzue... Soula, komikiak, laburmetraia, funk, hip hop, diskak, liburuak... Irudi grafiko eta baita pertsonalagoa ere, kaleari loturik dena... Zergatik ez dago zuena bezalako eskaintza gehiagorik?

Ez dugu gure bizitza sukaldaritzarik gabe ulertzten, baina ezta soilik sukaldaritzarekin ere. Gure gastronomia eta mundua ulertzten duen gero eta jende gehiago dago, eta, pixkana-pixkana antzeko filosofiadun garito desberdinak zabaltzen ari dira hortik zehar: gastrobar edo bistro berezi bakan batzuk; baina aldaketa soziala ematen ari dela ezin uka! Ez duguna ulertzten da nola oraindik gastronomiaren munduan ez diren gauza erradikalagoak zabaltzen, gastronomia lokalera egokiturik, eta, kalera begira.

Komikizale porrokatu garen aldetik, zuen Pintxos y Viñetas eta The Black Cook Book gure erregetza-liburuk kuxunenak ditugu. Egile horien guztien esku-hartzea nola lortu duzue?

Artisten ibilbidea eta lanak jarraitzen sortzen den harremanarengatik izan da dena. Euren lana pasioaz hartzeak askotan leku batean edo bestean beraiekin topatzea ekarri digu, eta, euren lana baloratuz, erosiz eta bantzukera Donostiarra gonbidatuz lortu dugu dena. Hartu-emana honela laburbiltzen da: egiten dakigunaren arteko elkar trukaketa. A Fuego Negrona ekarri, leku ezagutu dezatela eta jaten eman asetu arte; eta artistek primeran erantzuten dute beti. Pintxos y Viñetas, adibidez, Pasaiako Bruno Hidalgo marrazkilariarekin egin genuen, eta, bere aldeko apustua egin genuen. The Black Cook Book hamaika artisten batura da: Miguel Angel Martín, Montrialgo, Abarrotx, Furillo, Álvarez Rabo eta beste hainbat. Underground kulturako izen handiak! Eta liburu hauek argitaratu eta saritu badituzte artista hauen ezinbesteko lagunza guziarengatik izan da, noski!

Musikari ere gogor eman diozue, zinemari ere laburmetraia batzuekin, non kristo guztia implikatu duzuen...

Bai, urte hauetan guzietan jende aktibo eta kolaboratzaile andana ezagutu dugu, tartearen, Fermin Muguruzarekin esaterako, Pintxatu liburu-diska atera zen. Gitariko batzuk DJak gara, eta, musikari asko ere ditugu lagun. Eta Serie Bko zinemazale porrokatuak garenez Axel Casas eta Ronquererek eratu dugun kimikaren ondorioz bideoak eta ikuskizunak egin ditugu eta, jendeak paregabeki erantzuten digu beti.

Taskakulturklub da zuen azken urratsa. A Fuego Negro kalera irteten jarraitzen duzue, eta, kalea A Fuego Negron sartzen...

A Fuego Negron aktibista-ibilbidean beste heldutasun puntu batera heltzea izan da Taskakulturklub sortzea. Orain arte, gure sukaldaritzaren inguruan egiten ari ginene jarduera guztiek ez zirela lokaletik irteten zirudien, eta, pausu berri honekin zuzenean kaleari eskaini nahi dizkiogu ekintzok; kaletik bizi baikara eta kaleari gure harri kozkorra eman behar baitiogu ekintza hauen bitarbez.

Taskakulturklub aurrerapausu itzela izan da: irabazirk gabeko kultur elkartea eratu dugu, A Fuego Negron bultzadaz, hiruhileko programazio zabala eskaintzeko. Asteroko ekintzak dira, gainera: euren sukaldaritzaz haratago doazen garitoak gonbidatzen ditugu beren mundua azal dezaten, kontzertuak, zinema-proiekzioak, aurkezpenak, prentsurrekoak, ikuskizunak, antzerkia, igandero DJak zuzenean vermuaren orduan kultur gosea eta harremantzea larunbatez haratago joateko...

Honez gain, zerbitz eskaini edo aurkeztu nahi duen ororentzat irekirkir da Taskakulturklub, euren proiektuak entzun eta aurrera eramateko. Honen abidibe, Plater Hautsiak talde-erakusketa, non hogei euskal artistek plater apurtu bana artelan bilakatu duten. Jende aktibistaz gorputzurik dago Taskakulturklub.

A Fuego Negro ezagutzen ez duenak pintxo eta ardo baten truke edozein egunetan ezagutu dezake, edo eta gure bi menu mota dastatuz. Bilatu gaitzazue sarean eta On egin!

Whenever we hear the concept of gastronomy culture, we take a step back. Because most of the times, what gastronomy is seeking with snobism and cheap alchemy is to get even with the so called high culture. That's why we love the gastro cultural events organizes people such as A Fuego Negro. Their gastronomy culture concept comes from the popular culture of the streets.

How has A Fuego Negro's vision changed since you opened? What has changed? We opened to be able to work with gastronomy, we wanted to make a type of cooking which people often don't connect with, make it easily available, for anybody to be able to try it. Obviously, the bar's full of our personality: music, comics, books... As the years have gone by, cookery has become more and more important and that has enabled us to publish three books, work with a lot of different people, make T-shirts, hold parties, organise concerts and much more. We also wanted to get involved with types of gastronomy which have been seen as unusual until now.

In the world of gastronomy, varied as it is, the rationale is pretty cloned, a rationale which is easy to explain. You, on the other hand, have a more urban and more approachable point of view... Soul, comics, short films, funk, hip hop, records, books... Graphic art and more personal things too, all closely connected with urban things... Why don't more people do what you do?

You can't understand us without taking gastronomy into account, but you can't understand us with just gastronomy either. There are more and more people who understand our gastronomy and our world and, little by little, different places with our same attitude are being opened all over the place: it's just a few special gastrobars and bistros, but there's no denying there's a social change going on! What we don't understand is that more radical things haven't yet been opened in the world of gastronomy, adapted gastronomical establishments which look out at what's going on in the street.

Being huge fans of comics as we are, your Pintxos y Viñetas and The Black Cook Book are among our favourite recipe books. How did you get all those people to take part?

The relationships sprung up because we followed the artists' careers and work. Being passionate about their work led to us meeting them in different places and we got everything by valuing their work, buying it and inviting them to come and have lunch in Donostia. To sum up the relationship, we exchange what we know how to do. We bring them to Fuego Negro, bring them to see our bar and feed them all they want; and the artists' response has always been excellent. For instance, we did Pintxos y Viñetas with Bruno Hidalgo, the artist from Pasaia, and we believed in him. There are lots of artists in The Black Cook Book: Miguel Angel Martin, Montralago, Abarrotx, Furillo, Alvarez Rabo and many others. Big names from underground culture! And publishing these books wouldn't have been possible without these artists' help, of course!

You've also done a lot of things with music, cinema and short films in which everyone's taken part.

Yes, we've met loads of active people and worked with them over the years, for example Fermin Muguruza, who we published Pintxatu with, a record-book. Some of us are DJs and many of our friends are musicians. As we're huge fans of film noir, we've made videos and shows influenced by chemistry along with Axel Casas and Ronquet, and incredible people have always responded.

Taskakulturklub is your latest project. You carry on taking Fuego Negro out to the street and bringing the street into A Fuego Negro...

Founding Taskakulturklub has been another step in the growing up of A Fuego Negro's activist career. Up to now, it seemed as if all the things we were doing in connection with gastronomy weren't getting out of the bar and into the street, with this new step we want to offer them directly to the street; we live from the street and we want to contribute to it with this initiative of ours. Taskakulturklub has been a huge step forward: we've set up a non-profit cultural association, with A Fuego Negro behind it, offering a three-monthly programme. What's more, there's something every week: we invite people who go beyond their cookery to explain their worlds, give concerts, show films, explain things, give press conferences, shows, theatre. Every Sunday before lunch DJs take the hunger for culture and personal connections beyond Saturday... As well as that, Taskakulturklub's for anyone who wants to offer something, get their projects listened to and take them forward. An example of that's the Plater Hautsiak group exhibition, in which twenty Basque artists each turned a broken plate into a work of art. Taskakulturklub is made up of activists.

Anyone who doesn't know A Fuego Negro can find out about it by asking for a glass of wine and a pintxo, or by enjoying our two types of menus. Look us up on the web and bon appetit!

palet altzariak

Etxegintza sektorearen boom-ak bizitza-eredu kontsumista mugaezin batera garamatza. Norbanako orok bere etxea behar duela sinistera iritsi gara. Garai batean, klan-ei zegokien biztokia; ondoren familiei, eta, orain, bakoitzak gurea "behar" dugu.

Era berean, gure gizartearen bizitza-erritmo frenetikoak denborarik gabe utzi gaitu, eta nazioarteko supermarketu handiak jaun eta jabe bilakatu dira. Beharrezkoa ote ordea hori guztia? Ba al dakizu nondik datozen zure altzariak? Nondik egurra? Zeinek egin dituen? Zer ondorio dituen multinazional handietan erosteak gure ingurugiroan, gure eskubideetan, gure bizi estiloan?

pallet furniture

The boom in the building sector is leading us to a limitless-consumption type lifestyle where we now believe that every single one of us needs our very own house. Long ago, a living space was for a clan, then it was for a family, and now each individual 'needs' their own. On top of that, the frenetic rhythm of our daily lives sucks up all our time leading to huge multinational supermarkets that have become the be all and end all. Yet, is all of this necessary? Do you know where your furniture comes from? The origin of the wood? Who made it? What are the consequences of shopping in these huge multinationals for the environment, for our rights and for our lifestyle?

salbuespen ikusiezina

Dorothy Arzner (1897-1979), Hollywoodeko urrezko aroan estudio industrian zuzendar gisa lan egin zuen emakume bakarra, zine zale askorentzat ere izen ezezaguna da. Berak zuzenduriko pelikulen artean The Wild Party (1929), Anybody's Woman (1930), Sarah and Son (1930), Honor Among Lovers (1931), Working Girls (1931), Merrily We Go to Hell (1932), Christopher Strong (1933), Nana (1934), Craig's Wife (1936) edo eta The Bride Wore Red (1937). Pelikulotan garaiko izar handienak izan zituen bere agindupean: Clara Bow, Katharine Hepburn, Fredric March, Rosalind Russell, Claudette Colbert, Maureen O'Hara edo eta Joan Crawford. 30 eta 40. hamarkadetako Hollywoodeko zuzendar garrantzitsu honen lanek ordea ez dute garaiko beste zuzendar ezagun askoren arrakasta bera izan. Bere pelikuletan, pertsonaia femeninoek protagonismo berezia izateaz gain, garai hartarako nortasun eta jarrera oso aurreratuak zituzten. AEBtako gizarte puritanoan, Dorothy Arzner, 1930. urtetik hil arte Marion Morgan izeneko dantzari eta koreografia sortzailearekin bizi izanak ere lagundu du, bere lana hain luzaroan armairuan gordeta izateko.

Dorothy Arzner-en gurasoek kafetegi bat zuten Hollywood-en eta Charles Chaplin, William S. Hart eta Erich von Stroheim bezalako zine izarrak bertara joateko ohitura zuten. Dorothy gazteak zine munduko jende ugari ezagutu zuen bertan baina zinema ez zen bere bokazioa. Unibertsitatean lizenziatu ostean, I guda mundialean anbulantzia gidari gisa ibili zen. Gerratik itzultzean kazetari gisa hasi zen lanean baina zinema berriro gurutzatuko zen bere bizitzan. Oraingoan William C. DeMille zuzendaria izango zen (Cecil B. DeMille ahaltsuaren anaia). Hark Paramount konpainiako gidoi departamentuan lan egiteko eskaizta egin zion eta bertan hasi zen lanean. Nortasun eta lan gaitasun handiko emakumea, gidoigintzaz gain montaiaren sekretuak ere ikasi zituen eta epe laburrean Hollywoodeko muntatzaile izarra bihurtu eta 52 pelikulatik gora muntatu zituen. James Cruze zuzendariak, Rodolfo Valentinorekin egin zuen Blood and Sand (1922) pelikulan filmaketako bigarren unitatea egiteko aukera eman zion. Eta une hartatik aurrera ez zen atzera bueltarik izan.

Bidea ez zen erraza izan. Paramounti hordagoa bota zion. Ez bazioten pelikularik zuzentzen utzen, Columbiara, konpetentziara joango zela esan zien. 1927. urtean zuzendu zuen bere lehendabiziko filma, Fashions for Women eta urtebetera bere lehendabiziko soinudun pelikula zuzendu zuen Manhattan Cocktail. Emakume batek zuzentzen zuen lehendabizikoa. Dorothy Arznerrek ekarpen handia egin zion soinudun zinemari, eszenak plano irekietan filmatu ahal izateko, arrantza kanabera batean mikrofonoa eseki zuen lehendabiziko zuzendaria izan zelako, modu horretan "jirafa" mikrofonoa asmatuaz. 1933. urtean Amerikako zuzendarien sindikatuaren izena eman eta hamarkada askotan, bertan emakume bakarra izan zen. 1943. urtean, gaixotu eta erretiratu egin zen. Itzuli nahi izan zuenerako Hollywoodeko industria asko aldatu zen eta ez zuen bertan tokirk topatu. Hala ere, armadarako eta publizitatean lan egin zuen. Bere laguna zen Joan Crawford aktorea, zine izarra izateaz gain, Pepsi-Cola enpresako zuzendaritzako kidea ere bazen eta kola edari ezagunerako iragarki ezberdinak eskatu zizkion. Arten, Donostiarra Zinemaldiak eskaizten dion atal berezia esker, Arznerren filmografia ezagutu eta gozatzeko aukera paregabea eta errepikaezina izango dugu.

invisible exception

Dorothy Arzner (1897-1979), the only woman who worked as a director for the big film studios during the Hollywood's Golden Age, is totally unknown to many movie fans. Amongst the films she made are The Wild Party (1929), Anybody's Woman (1930), Sarah and Son (1930), Honor Among Lovers (1931), Working Girls (1931), Merrily We Go to Hell (1932), Christopher Strong (1933), Nana (1934), Craig's Wife (1936) and The Bride Wore Red (1937). In her films she directed the biggest stars of the period: Clara Bow, Katharine Hepburn, Fredric March, Rosalind Russell, Claudette Colbert, Maureen O'Hara and Joan Crawford. However, this major Hollywood director from the 30s and 40s didn't enjoy the same success as many of her famous contemporaries at the time. Not only did the female characters in her film especially stand out, but they also had very progressive personalities and attitudes for their time. The fact that Dorothy Arzner, in a very puritanical North-American society, lived with her partner, dancer and choreographer Marion Morgan, from 1930 until her death also helps understand why her work remained locked away in the closet.

Dorothy Arzner's parents had a restaurant in Hollywood that was frequented by actors such as Charles Chaplin, William S. Hart and Erich von Stroheim. The young Dorothy met many people from the world of cinema there but filmmaking wasn't her vocation. Having graduated from university, she became an ambulance driver in the Great War. On returning from the war she started work as a journalist but she once more crossed paths with the world of filmmaking. This time it was director William C. DeMille (brother of the very powerful Cecil B. DeMille). He offered her a job in the scriptwriting department in Paramount and she soon started working there. She was a very strong-charactered hardworking lady and in addition to art of scriptwriting, she soon learned the secrets of editing. In a short time she was one of the star editors in Hollywood and she edited more than 50 films. Director James Cruze while making his Blood and Sand (1922), starring Rudolph Valentino, offered her to take charge of the second filming unit. She never looked back.

It wasn't as easy ride though. She gave Paramount an ultimatum: if they didn't let her direct films, she would cross over to the competition at Columbia Pictures. In 1927, she directed her first film, Fashions for Women, and a year later she made her first talkie with Manhattan Cocktail, the first sound motion picture to be made by a woman. Arzner made a huge contribution to sound films. In order to film wide angle shots she hung a microphone from a fishing rod and thus invented the boom mic. In 1933, she became a member of the American Directors Guild and for many years she was the only female member. In 1943, she became ill and retired from filmmaking. When she tried to make a comeback, the industry had changed greatly and she could not get back in. She did, however, work for the navy and also in advertising. Her friend, movie star Joan Crawford, was also a member on the board of directors at Pepsi-Cola and she asked Arzner to make some commercials for the company. This year, the San Sebastian International Film Festival will be offering us the unrepeatable opportunity to enjoy her filmography. Not to be missed.

otsoaren ahoan in the mouth of the wolf

Izaren beste aldean dago amonaren etxea. Alde honetan nago ni. Kosmos ilunaren azpian dagoen baso beltzean. Galdua, bide gabe; ez dago nork bere burua aurkitzeko modu hobeagorik. Bideek ez naramate amonaren etxera. Izarrak dira gida, eta ez dago izarren distirarik iluntasunik gabe. Horregatik, ez dut ogi apurrik behar, ez baldosa horirik, ezta ortzadar gainera igotzerik. Ez naiz ipuinetako freaky bat. Ni tyanogorritxu suizida bat naiz.

"Jantzi nahi duzun bezala, joan otsoarengana eta berandu etorri etxera" esan dit amonak izaren beste aldetik. Etxeko giltzak saskian sartu dizkit. Kandela batek, ezpainetako batek eta lurrinak osatzen dute giltzatako bitxia.

Otsoaren ahoan sartu naiz. Iluna eta sakona da. Izarrak ukitu ditut hark hozka egitean. Zauria ireki da. Eros eta Tanatos. Gorri estali da kosmosa. R.I.P. Ezinbestekoa, oraingo neskatzen ipuinetako heroia gotikoa izateko. Aukitu naiz. I did it my way.

Etxean nago amonarekin.

Grandma's house is over there by the stars. I'm on the other side. In the dark forest beneath the dark cosmos. Lost, no way out of here; there is no better way for one to find oneself. These paths do not lead to Grandma's house. The stars are my guide and there is no star that can shine without darkness. So I have no need for breadcrumbs or a yellow-brick road, nor do I have use for a rainbow. I am not some kind of faery tale freak. I'm a suicide Little Red Riding Hood.

Dress as you please, go to the wolf and get home late - said my Grandma from the other side of the stars. She slipped the keys to the house into my basket. A candle, lipstick and perfumes make up this curious key ring.

Into the mouth of the wolf I go. It's deep and dark. I touched the stars when the wolf bit into me. The wound is open. Eros and Tanatos. The cosmos turns red. R.I.P. Essential if you want to be a gothic heroine for modern girls. I have found myself. I did it my way. I'm home with grandma.

Ormazabal izan zen 2007ko otsailean Esperanza pilotalekutik eramandako gazteetako bat. Gizartean ekintzaile politiko izango ziren asko sei urteko zulo batean sartu zituzten. Eta zulo hartan sortu zen izenburutik etorkizunari itxaropenez begiratzen dion liburu eder hau. Kartzela, edo, hobe esanda, metakartzela generoaren barruan sailkatu genezakeen liburu honetan, hausnarketaz eta salaketaz gain, ez dira falta umorea eta poesia. Eta musika. Soinu-bandarekin datozenako liburuko kontakizun guztiak. Iratxe Retolazaren gibelekoak ere merezi du.

Ormazabal was one of the young people they took away from Esperanza pilot court in February, 2007. And, saying that many of the social projects they were involved in had to be political, they locked them up in a hole for six years. And it was there, shut in a hole, that he wrote this fine book, which looks at the future with optimism, starting with the title ('here I am, but not to stay'). This book could be grouped along with other prison or metaprison books: as well as reflections and accusation, there's humour and poetry. And music. Everything in the book comes with its own soundtrack. Iratxe Retolaza's epilogue is worth reading too.

Tatuajeak egitean, lehenik eta behin, tinta beltzezko lerroak zizelatzen dira azalean. Segidan, itzalak eta bolumenak marrazten dira, eta amaierarako uzten da koloreztatzea. Liburu honek eskaintza hori egiten du, hain zuen ere. Berez, marrazkiaren oinarria ematen digute, guk nahi dugun moduan koloreztatu ahal izateko. Zure seme alabei etorkizuneko lanbide bat eskaini nahi badiezu, alboratu ohiko jolas koaderno moñoño horiek, eta jarri seme-alaben eskuartean dragoiak, kaskezurrak tigreak eta labanak.

The first step in doing tattoos is the black lines which define each drawing. The shadows and volumes are added and, finally, colours. Which is just what this book brings you. It offers you the draughtsman's foundation so that you can colour it in as you wish. If you want to give your children a craft with a future, put aside those cute notebook games and give them dragons, skulls, tigers and knives.

Marisol Bastidak urteetan zehar idatzako memoria liburu honen azalean, Zumetak ongi azaltzen du liburuan ezagutuko dugun dualtasuna: batetik, Laboa kantari ezaguna; bestetik, Laboa senar, lagun eta aita. Interesgarria da ia 400 orrialde dituen liburuan barneratzea, Laboa pertsonaia Laboa pertsona bihurtzen duelako. Gure herriko azken hamarkaden errepasoa egiteko ere baliagarria da: azken 50 urteetan, kultur arloko protagonista asko, eta era askotakoak, bildu direlako Mikel Laboaren inguruan. Marisol Bastidaren moduan itzalean izaten diren pertsona argi horien garrantzia jabetzeko ere baliagarrai zaigu memoria liburu hau.

On the cover of this book of memories, which Marisol Bastida wrote over years, Zumeta explains the book's dual nature: On the one hand, Laboa the famous singer. On the other, Laboa the husband, friend and father. Over the 400 pages Laboa the well-known figure becomes Laboa the person. The book also gives us another look at the past few decades, the last 50 years, because many and diverse cultural movers gravitated around Mikel Laboa. The book also brings Marisol Bastida into the light for us and we realise how important many people who are usually overlooked actually are.

Guillermo Larregui

Guillermo Isidoro Larregui Ugarte, 1885ko azaroaren 27an jaio zen, Iruñako Errotxapea auzoan. Hamabost urterekin iritsi zen Buenos Airesera.

Marinel izan zen, eta Patagonian lan egin zuen petrolio enpresa estatubatuarr batetan, harik eta, 1935ean, bizitza aldatuko zion apustu bat egin zuen arte.

Patagoniatik Buenos Airesera karretilla bat eramango zuela esan zuen. Lagun batek karretilla ekarri zuen, eta Guillermo, hura hartuta, oinez hasi zen. 50 urte zituen.

Gizon ikasia zen, eta ingelesa, frantsesa, italiarra, alemana eta neerlandera hitz egiten zuen.

14 hilabeteren ostean, apustua irabazia zuen. Eta ezagutu zuen bizimodu berriak ez zuen atzera bueltarik izan.

Aurrerantzean, Buenos Aires probintziako mugatik atera, eta bidaian jarraitu zuen, La Paz-era (Bolivia) lehenik, eta Cordobatik (Argentina) Santiago de Chilera ondoren.

Heriotzak bere laugarren ibilaldian harrapatu zuen, Iguazuko parke nazionalean, hain zuzen ere, 1964ko ekainaren 9an.

Ordurako, "El vasco de la carretilla" ezizenez ezaguna zenak, 20.000 kilometrotik gora egin zituen oinez karretilla bultzatzu.

Guillermo Isidoro Larregui Ugarte, was born on the 27th of November, 1885 in the Errotxapea neighbourhood in Pamplona. He was 15 when he reached Buenos Aires.

He worked as a sailor and also for an American oil company in Patagonia. That was until a bet with friends in 1935 changed everything for him.

He said he would walk a wheelbarrow from Patagonia to Buenos Aires. When a friend produced one, off he set on his walk. He was 50 years old at the time.

He was an educated man and he spoke English, French, Italian, German and Dutch.

14 months later, he won the bet. He could not turn his back on this new lifestyle he had discovered.

After that he left the Buenos Aires province behind and travelled to La Paz (Bolivia.) Later, he went from Cordoba in Argentina to Santiago de Chile.

He found death on his fourth journey, on the June the 9th, 1964 in the Iguazu National Park, to be precise.

By that time, "The Basque with The Barrow", as he had become known, had walked 20,000 kilometres with his wheelbarrow.
